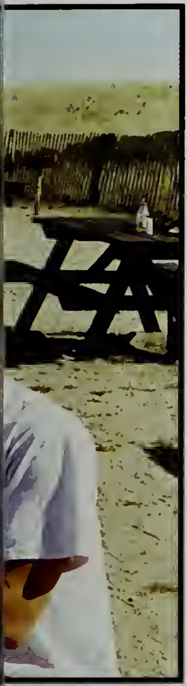
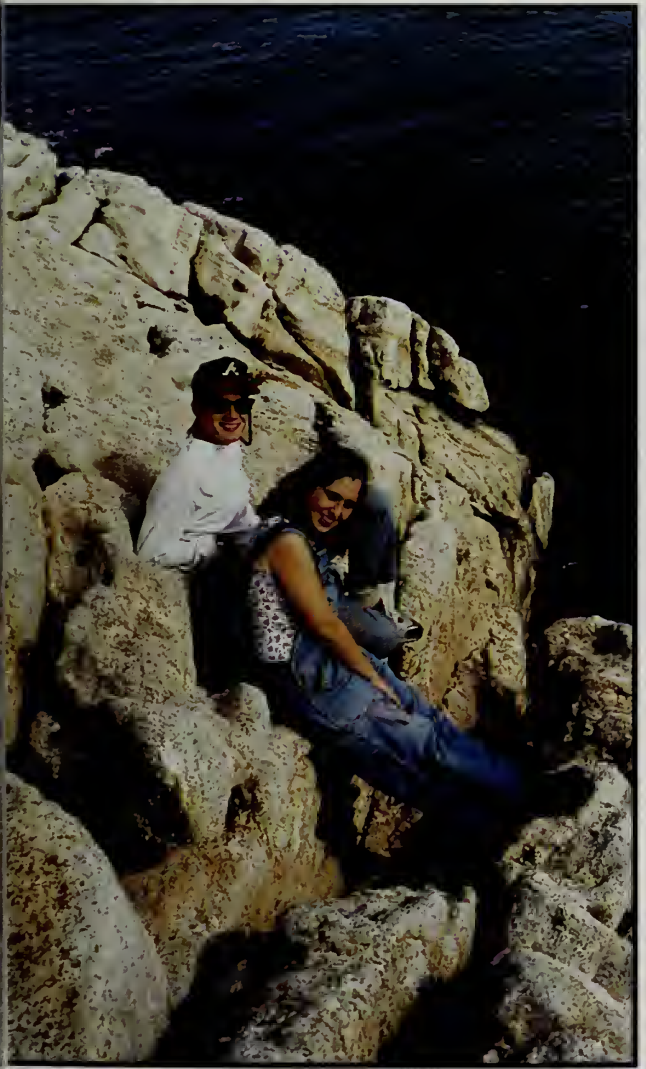
Clambake

The Bi-Annual Clambake, sponsored by the Bates Outing Club, did not enjoy the best of weather. However, those willing to brave the elements came to Reid State Park to enjoy Maine's two most famous natural assets, the Ocean and of course lobster.

Most of the crowd bundled up and enjoyed a beautiful day at the beach, with large waves and low tide setting the mood for a typical Maine autumn day. A few courageous souls actually brought along swimsuits and went plunging into the frigid waters, although they didn't stay in for long. The rest of us played volleyball, tried in vain to tan, examined sea shells, or just walked along the beach.

The menu included hot dogs, hamburgers, veggie burgers, corn-on-the-cob, brownies, all the soda you could drink, and of course the featured item, lobster. As usual, the people cooking the food seemed to have more fun then those eating it (although the cooking knives were used only on lobster shells, not on people) Those lucky enough to have made the hour long trip from Bates left the beach with sand in their hair and great food in their stomachs.





Parents' Weekend

FLOATING RESTAURANT
PORTLAND, ME.

Parent's Weekend, with its tantalizing promises of power shopping in Freeport and free meals at Pat's Pizza, arrived the weekend of October Seventh.

The weather was extraordinary! More incredible was the football team. No, they didn't win, although a couple of snowflakes did fall in Hell as the Bates Bobcats took the lead over the more experienced Williams team. Rumor of the long forgotten tradition of ringing the Hathorn bell signifying victory on Garcelon field quickly spread. That wasn't to be - the Universe quickly returned to its normal working order, with Bates unfortunately capitulating the lead and the game.

Parents were treated to the whole works, with the College staff putting on an excellent exhibition ("Sure, mom, we eat like this all the time"). The Olin Arts Center offered several exhibits, as did other departments. Did any of us go on the Bird Sanctuary expedition? As a sign of our maturity, this year we actually allowed our parents to be seen with us in public, and did not sneak them in and out of the dorms when we were sure that nobody was looking. Some of us even brought them to Commons for a quick bite to eat. As usual, the Deansmen and Merrimanders concert was packed.

Overall, it was a terrific weekend, as our parents who have now been partying on with one another for four years really felt comfortable with each other. So comfortable, that in an odd sort of way, they are sorry that they won't be doing it again next year.

Halloween

The Annual Chase Hall Committee Halloween Bash reached its usual high peak of festivity this October 30th. A record number of Bates students (over 1,200 all told) turned out in full regalia to enjoy one of the biggest nights of the year. CHC did its usual great job of putting on a party, with groovy music and video screens on the dance floor.

Meanwhile, across campus, Frye Street Union became the sight of on the year's best house parties. The rafters shook with the enormous number of people who wanted a smaller setting than the Gray Cage, or who were just too drunk to make it across the Quad.

Costumes of note were the Women's Rugby Team Auxiliary, doubtless preparing for meaningful careers in the real world, dressed as roller skating waitresses. They won best costume, and experienced only minor concussions. Others included the Slacker House guys going as the cast from Gilligan's Island, and the Jolly Green Giant and Sprout the Mad Kisser. Interestingly enough, many of us were that hue of green the next morning, even without the make-up. Also spotted were Resevoir Dogs, the S&M Womyn, and, of course, the Maine State Turnpike Authority.

Bates Abroad

Reflections on Studying Abroad

--by Amy Bourne

Many of us spent one or both semesters of the academic year 1993-1994 in a far away and different place, getting to know faces we'd never seen before, asking for stamps or coffee or train tickets or maps in a different language, lugging huge travel packs on our backs, possibly wearing shorts in February and sweaters in June. Studying abroad may have felt like the best experience we had had to date in our college years. I never thought I'd be in the city where Franz Kafka was born on New Year's Eve of 1993 or live comfortably with a Spanish family for a year, hike in the Pyrenees, set foot in such huge echoing cathedrals, or eat paella every Sunday.

It was not until we returned to Bates, however, that the full impact of spending a year abroad really hit us. This campus felt like a foreign country or some sort of 1500-person commune, and the Bates College "culture" of baseball caps and mountain bikes and Den coffee was suddenly so apparent. Most of us were a little shaky adjusting at first and cracking the code of the voice mail system again. The gains far outweighed the losses, though. My interests expanded greatly from my experience abroad and my appreciation grew considerably for many things at Bates I had once taken for granted. I now feel that I have a somewhat realistic perspective on how this liberal arts education is enriching me, and I have tried to take advantage of Bates' amazing resources as much as possible this year.

For students, faculty, skating enthusiasts, and hockey players, the new Underhill Ice Areana and Fitness Center mean. . .

Game On!

The winter season was highlighted by the opening of the Underhill Arena on January 13. Students and faculty flocked to the ice to celebrate the dedication of this new state of the art complex. Joseph Underhill '17 was captain of the Bates hockey team while he studied at Bates. When he died in 1983 at the age of eighty-nine, he left Bates a $1.2-million bequest requiring that the money and the income accumulated from investing it be used solely for the building and maintenance of an indoor ice arena. The college invested the money over the last ten years and finally reached $4 million in 1993 which allowed plans to be made for the actual construction of the complex.

The building serves many functions for the Bates community, including both an ice rink and a well-equipped weight room. The ice rink is a full eighty-five-by-two hundred-feet with permanent seating for five hundred and an additional two hundred people may be seated if the portable bleachers are used as well. The rink can hold 2,200 people seated when the ice is melted for all college events or graduation ceremonies on a rainy day. Students seem especially pleased with the new fitness area as lines to get on the weight machines at Merrill were often enormous. The sunlit room and lovely tunes which always seem to be playing make for an atmosphere which is much more conducive to working out than the gray pit at Merrill. The arena was welcomed by the community at large because it is open to the general public. The arena also offers another option for seniors frantic to fulfill that nagging PE credit by offering a wide variety of skating lessons. And most importantly, the Bates hockey team finally has a place to compete!

During the 94-95 season merica's first international ebating team triumphed gain, as only the Brooks-uimby debaters could. ates continued its long-anding history by fielding number of powerhouse ams. In the various touraments held by schools, oth American and Canaian, Batesies finished with onsistent strength earning umerous slots for the team the national championip, held this year at Johns Hopkins. At one point during the season Bates held the coveted first ranking on the circuit after rising above competitors which included Yale, Harvard, Columbia and others.

Beside destroying the competition, Bates did its part to further Parliamentary debate and thereby cement its position as a national leader. Quoc Tran '95 served as a member of the American Parliamentary Debate Association's executive board, a first for the team; the team hosted a successful tournament; and Japanese students visited Maine to participate in an on-going exchange with Nagoya University. In addition, this short term a group of students traveled to Japan. During this trip, teams were paired with Japanese counterparts and debated the justification of the Hiroshima bombing. The impact of this historic trip was felt by all in this, the fiftieth year after the first and only atomic bombing.

By building on past successes while cultivating future champions, the Brooks-Quimby Debating team continues to make a name for Bates in the international circuit.

Seniors

Celebrating Seniors

It's been four years since we, the class of 1995, first walked into our respective freshman centers. Looking back from our current perspectives, many of us may think: "Wow! What different people we used to be." Then again, many of us have also said: "Theres no way we can be seniors, we're still freshman!" We've all come a long way since those first few weeks of mind altering bliss, but we have lived and succeeded by the unofficial Bates Rule of Discipline: "Work hard, play hard, party hard." These skills will serve us well in the future, we hope.

Bates is now a different place from the school we entered. During our academic career here we have witnessed the construction and dedication of the Village and the Underhill Athletic Complex, the demise of Milliken House and the Bill, the transformation of Parker Hall and Cheney House from all female residences to co-ed and substance free housing respectivley. Even the Puddle is undergoing change with attempts to clean it up. Our school has grown in numbers too, with the admission of many more studious students than we like to consider ourselves to have been. And Bates will continue to change and grow, as the college has many new plans for the future.

Our memories will provide us with a lasting impression of our alma mater. Where will we go now? Hopefully, we are all ready to burst the bubble and venture into the "real world." It seems that those six free sessions at the health center have really helped.

ACTIVITIES

After a fun if not slightly illegal ride to Portland aboard luxurious school buses, Seniors spent Monday afternoon watching a Sea Dogs baseball game. Fortunately, the Sea Dogs were victorious. We then moved to the Old Port where we ate, drank, and danced the night away. We hit places like Gritty's, Cadillac Jack's, The Penguin, Three Dollar Dewey's, and Amigos. Our eleven-thirty pick up time came all too soon for some of us, despite the knowledge that a good night's sleep would work to our advantages for Tuesday's Pub Crawl. Go Class of 1995!

The class of 1995

THE PUB CRAWL

On Tuesday afternoon at 4:30, 51 Senior Pub Crawling Couples were lined up in front of Rand Dormatory. The turnout was remarkable: 102 Seniors dressed in varying costumes all prepared to sprint the 21/2 mile course between Rand, The Cage, The Goose, Pub 33 and O'Sheils. Once every runner had a beer in hand, the theme to Chariots of Fire came pumping out of someone's stereo and the chugging began. As we sprinted along paying no heed to cars, the scene got messier and messier as, one by one, and even two by two we lost our beers and our lunches. First through third places went to Brook Mullens & Sarah White, Jay Ladieu & Deirdre O'Leary, and John Smith & Becky Morgan respectively. Ben Embry and Ing Voosen either had some serious troubles, or took it real slow as they brought in the rear. A BBQ on the Rand Field followed with too many really drunk seniors playing with fire and stealing each others dinners of the grill. It was an afternoon not to have missed. Congrats to all runners!

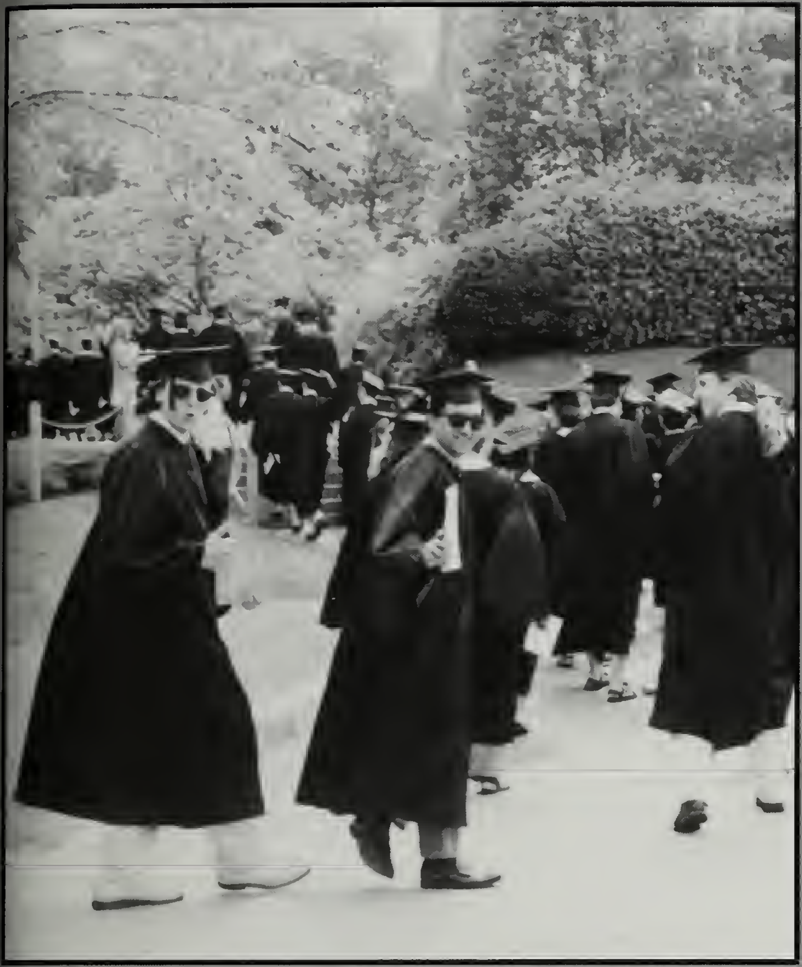
GRADUATION 1995



The Class of 1995 celebrated the One Hundred and Twenty-ninth Commencement excercise on Monday, June the Fifth at Ten o'Clock in the morning. Just about 360 of us participated in the ceremony. It was a beautiful warm sunny morning (which was kind of rough on those who had been up all night at Midnight Madness). Bates conferred Honorary degrees to Byllye Y. Avery, Robert E. McAffee and Garry Wills. Garry Wills delivered an excellent address, made all the more wonderful by its brevity. After the ceremony we lined up for endless photo shoots with our families and friends, and then headed over to grab a lobster roll Commons style.

•May 24, 1973 - August 12,1995•

"If we listen hard enough, you can actually hear creation being silenced. And underneath the disappearance of natural sounds resonates an impending groan, a dying heartbeat of a world that has been crucified. If this crucifixion is allowed to continue, God's covenant will not be fulfilled . . . Humanity must welcome that coming of the 'ecological age' and strive to make the important changes while we still have the chance."
